Sunday Reflection

The announcement by Jesus of the ruin of the Temple is the occasion of his last discourse, in which he predicts the tribulations of the end-time and his glorious return, in the style of contemporary apocalyptic or destruction. In the gospels of Matthew and Mark, Jesus discourse is reserved to his disciples on the Mount of Olives; in Luke, it is addressed to the people in the Temple. St. Luke distinguishes quite clearly the announcements concerning the end of time from those concerning the preceding events (persecution of the disciples), ruin of Jerusalem. He concludes with the call to vigilance and hope.

In announcing the ruin of the temple, Jesus announces the end of a world. Other catastrophes will happen; let us not see in these the sign that the end of the world is near; let us see in them merely a reminder that everything in this world has an end and that we ourselves have to prepare for our own end.

St. Margaret of Scotland

(Feast day 16th November)

Lord, you gave St. Margaret of Scotland a special love for the poor. Let her example and prayers help us to become a living sign of your goodness. O Heavenly Patron of Scotland, pray ever to God for me; strengthen me in my faith; establish me in virtue; guard me in the conflict; at my end, be steadfast at my side and plead for me with Christ, my Judge as Saviour, that I may vanquish the foe malign and attain to glory everlasting to behold one day thy beautiful countenance. Amen.
